Health Report

REPORT OF LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH

February 13, 1933

The general health condition of the town for 1932 was above the average. There were few communicable diseases, such as whooping cough, measles, etc., but no epidemics which necessitated quarantine.

A move was made to improve the conditions of the Mohawk River and its shores which received the earnest cooperation of all the citizens and at the present time this waterway is in the most sanitary condition that it has been for years.

Some very important prophylactic steps have been taken in the schools, especially the graded school, which received the support of a large percentage of the parents.

Respectfully submitted,

WALTER F. NOYES, M. D.
